Forecast For Tayside, Central & Fife
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 1600 on Wednesday 06 Jan 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Rain and snow tonight. Mainly dry and bright on Thursday.

This Evening and Tonight:
Rain and snow will push in from the northwest later this evening and overnight. Much of this will be light, but lying snow for some and an increasing ice risk. Minimum temperature -3 deg C (27 deg F).

Thursday:
Any overnight rain and snow soon clearing in the morning. Otherwise many places dry with some sunshine, perhaps an isolated wintry shower in Angus and northern Perthshire. Cold. Maximum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Isolated snow showers on Friday, otherwise bright and cold. Patchy light rain pushing in from the west on Saturday. Breezy and milder by Sunday, brightest in the east.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.